

Natalie Harvey

Team Coach

“My performance item is my Remarkable. I take it with me to every client meeting, capture notes from each coaching session and have these easily accessible to me on every device, so there’s no need to have lots of different notebooks and remember to take them with me.”

“I’m an experienced executive coach, leadership development professional, and skilled facilitator dedicated to helping individuals and teams reach their full potential.

With over 30 years in HR and Leadership Development across global organizations, I’ve improved team performance by fostering self-awareness, overcoming challenges, and establishing behaviours for lasting success.

My expertise in leadership coaching and implementing impactful talent programs allows me to support clients across various industries in creating inclusive business cultures.

I’ve been privileged to have some fabulous coaching myself, experiencing firsthand the impact this has had on my own professional and personal development and life transitions and am guided by a personal drive to enable more people to experience the benefits great coaching can bring.”

Client View

“The impact on my personal and professional life has been phenomenal, and we’ve only just begun. Not only have our sessions refocused me, regained my passions and goals but they’ve also been responsible for me regaining confidence in myself and lifted me out of a place that I wasn’t happy in being.”

Colleague View

“I can honestly say Natalie is the best L&D professional I have come across in many years of my HR career. Natalie can make things happen, working hard herself, but most importantly, inspiring others to act. Her enthusiasm is infectious, her project management and organisation skills are at the highest level.”
